ABOUT US

Travis House is the vision of local business woman Lila Phillips
— a faith-based home to serve men who are struggling with life controlling drug and alcohol addictions.

Lila Phillips
Founder

Travis House is named in honour of Lila's nephew, who lost his life to an alcohol overdose several years ago.

When fully operational, the new 20 bed home will aim to help men find a new start in life through practical help, mentorship and long-term support.

INTRODUCING

Travis House

A place of new beginnings
freedom from addictions.

Never before has the need been so great to help men in northern Alberta who are struggling with addictions and mental health problems.

Introducing Travis House.

Travis House is a new non-profit aimed at serving the Fort Saskatchewan area with a faith-based approach to helping men overcome addiction problems.

When fully operational, the 20 bed home will provide a one-year intensive training program including:

- ✓ Daily classes on topics such as Recovery First, Stress Management, Financial Management, Nutrition and Preparing for Independence.

Our goal is to open our doors with new facilities paid-for and 100% debt free.

For a copy of our case for support or more information, call us at 780-991-6410.

Travis House Partners

Your monthly partnership will help men in need find a new start in life.

The statistics tell the story. Lives lost in the hundreds... needlessly before their time.

Your support will help us get our doors open to give desperate men the help they urgently need.

Your monthly support will help now.

When you join as a Travis House Monthly Partner, you'll help by providing:

- ✓ Funding to support start-up costs
- ✓ Support for men-in-crisis
- ✓ Financial stability for our work
- ✓ Support for our campaign
- ✓ Cost-effective donation processing
- ✓ One tax receipt for total year of giving*
